MESSAGE FROM THE PROVOST

To educate is to assist learners in discovering their true potential – that is the essence of the teaching philosophy at Marwadi University. Our core values, vision, and mission reflect that the highest function of education is to foster adaptable individuals who acquire life skills that can help them deal with a constantly evolving world and make them good human beings, responsible citizens, and able professionals.

As educators at Marwadi University, we believe that nothing can keep an inquisitive mind from seeking knowledge. When you come to explore opportunities at our university, come with the belief that change for the better is possible. Edification at Marwadi University is a progression of inviting truth and the possibility of encouraging and giving time to discovery.

COVID-19 is a significant global catastrophe - the inflection point that is changing the landscape of education. Now, as we oscillate between online and offline learning and teaching, it is obligatory upon us to explore the blended learning approach to its full potential and enable our experts to create a hybrid environment that exploits a learner's interest and capacity to its fullest.

Today, after 34 years of gap, India is at the cusp of the education revolution with the announcement of National Education Policy 2020. Timely and progressive, the policy marks colossal lift-off in the country's education system. It is our goodie-bag filled with unshackling concepts like the policy of offering multi-disciplinary programmes with multi-entry and exit options, the inclusion of vocational courses, the inventive thought of ABC – the Academic Bank Credit scheme where students can accumulate, transfer, and redeem their credits and many more such disruptive ideas that will drive how we empower the new generation of learners not just in India but across the world. What more, these winds of transformation in research, innovation, and education promise one thing – we are progressing with an aim to achieve excellence. Endorsing dynamic and cogent restructuring, Marwadi University is all set to ensure that our aspirations culminate into a fulfilling breakthrough in education – blazing the trail for new India.
